FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL.

WEDNESDAY, March 6-6 P. M. The gold market has developed a further downward tendency to-day, under a pressure to realize on the part of many of those who were recently speculating for a rise. The opening price was 136½, followed by a decline to 136½ and a recovery in the afternoon to 136½. The rally was, however, immediately followed by a relapse and the closing price was 135½ with sales on the title. the closing price was 135%, with sales on the street and the closing price was 135%, with sales on the street at five o'clock as low as 135%. Loans were made without interest and at 1.64 a 1.16 per cent per diem for borrowing. The fact of the rates of foreign exchange being below the shipping point for coin, and the equally important one that the Treasury holds nearly forty millions of gold more than it held about a year ago, are beginning to engage attention mow that the political excitement of the last few weeks has quieted down, and the prospect of impeachment has hat the political excitement of the last few weeks aicted down, and the prospect of impeachment has a terrors. hereover the extreme abundance and ness of money in Europe are considered sufficiently the total advance in American accurities abroadily the calculation that further considerable shipt of these will be made, notwithstanding that it be, perhaps, better for the country ultimately if intrary should prove to be the case. These continuations, combined with the general expectation that ary should prove to be the case. These con-as, combined with the general expectation that ill be no political trouble at Washington, are influencing the reaction from the recent ex-dvance, which we pointed out as being in of public opinion at the time. Specula-the gold room, alike with the Stock Expouding reaction is thereby rendered inevitable. Now not gold is running down hill it may as easily touch so as a week ago it touched 140. It will be remembered that after the capture of Richmond it declined to 1854, and yet last summer rose above 167.

on of yesterday, owing mainly to the de-the bears to cover their contracts, the bull eing still too weak apparently to exert any ect upon the course of prices. The supply but others have in some instances in all cases somewhat closely scrutinized in conof the unsettled condition of affairs on the k Exchange. On government securities the leading ers have no difficulty in borrowing at five per cent. is a moderate amount of commercial paper offering ent, with exceptional transactions at six and a half.

At the early session of the open board railway shares ere in some instances a fraction lower than at the close of siness last evening. According to the following report in an Orleans (N. Y.) journal, the Medina bank failure has brought to light some very discreditable facts concerning its management for closer and more frequent exeminations of the affairs of national banks by the Treasury than have been

The history of the First National Bank of Medina and the cause of its failure is not flattering to the managers of the institution or the national banking system of the country. The amount of deposites was $32,000, and the assets $50,000. Among the depositors was the County will not lose. The daposite of the bank were used for speculation, by which $45,000 was lost, and the bank never really had any bottom. Organized on a nominal capital of $50,000, but a small preportion was ewned by the bank. The President was chief owner, holding $45,000 of the stock, while five others held each $1,000. "The government securities deposited with the Comptroller of the Currency as redempation for the bills result were borrowed and paid for by the currency received from the Comptroller, so that about $5,000 appears to be all the actual capital the concern ever had above its debts. On such a bank it is not strange that a crists should at length overtake it. In New York correspondents understanding his condition and having carried its rotten credit as long as was safe, were lucky enough to get their ledgers bahanced by country funds and closed down upon it. Of course it had to fait."

The defalcation in the Mechanics' Bank of Baltimore is thus referred to by the Sus of that city:

It is alleged, by way of explaining the manner in which Mr. Wentz, the general bookkeeper, obtained the large amount of money from the bank which he is charged with embezzling, that he was in the habit of acting for the paying teller whenever the latter was absent; and it is now supposed that such occasions were availed of to abstract the money, and then subsequently to charge to the account of foreign banks. The books in the charge of Mr. Wentz were nover transferred to others, as has, it is said, been the custom with all the other books of the bank, it being supposed that as no money passed through his hands, such precaution was not necessary in his case as a proventive against fraud. It is said that Wentz who remains in jail, has acknowledged having recently lost $45,000 in stock speculations, and it is generally believed now that he has long been engaged in private stock transactions. The only parties who will lose by the defalcation will, it is alleged, be the stockholders, as every depositor is amply secured by the capital of the bank, and will be paid on demand. It is understood that the house of Brown, Brothers & Co. yesterday tendered the Board of Directors the sum of $300.000, taking the bank's bills receivable as security. This was accepted, and the bank is held to be thereby enabled to meet all outstanding liabilities without any dolay whatever. As has heretofore been intimated, the defalcation was first discovered by Mr. Callender, the United States government bank inspector. During last week, in making his examination, he discovered, talse entries upon the books in which are kept the accounts of foreign banks, in charge of Mr. Wentz, and subsequently to that of Mr Rogers, the paying teller, the latter party averting that he only bad come into possession of $6.00 of any moneys of the bank, and that professedly as ioans, at various times, from Mr. Wentz, and subsequently to that of Mr Rogers, the paying Hymnormona is his Wast—A young daughter of Affred Woodruf, of Greenfield, Michigan, has recently gone raving with hydrophobia from a slight bite received from a dog two weeks ago. In Chicago, on the 28th uit, a son of T. P. Abell, a dentist, died from hydrophobia, caused by the bite of a pet dog about the middle of Noember last. The dog was sets but not supposed to be mad, and ran out of the house and was seen no more till found dead shortly after. The bite was healed and was no more thought of till two days before the lad's death, when he first showed symposia of hydrophobia, which, despite the best medical skill, became more and more severe, until the paroxysims became so excruciating that no remedies afforded any rotter, and his parents and relatives were unable to witness the fearful convolutions.

Mr. Graem.—"Yes, I will swear to it, and swear to the truth, too."

Mr. Howell.—"Well, I wouldn't."

As he uttered these last words, Mr. Howell pushed up against Mr. Greene, when the latter immediately struck him with his fist. They then clinched, and struggled for a few seconds, when Mr. Howell, who is a man of considerable size and strength, was about to overcome, when Greene drew a pistol, and rausing it as near Howell's head as possible, began firing. This was done with difficulty, as they were in such close quarters. The first shot slightly grazed Howell's nose; the second missed and struck the sign of Massey, Swanson & Co.; the third struck the curbations of the sidewalk, and the fourth took effect, striking the base of the occupit, or the back of Mr. Howell's head, entering the brain, and killing bim instantly.
